Dear Dr. Boyd:

It is my pleasure to invite you to join the National Defense University community as an Adjunct Research Fellow. As you know the opportunity to contribute significant research to the national security community is one of the principal benefits of research here at NDU. The Research Directorate could provide special research access, professional review, editorial assistance, and commercial-grade presentation of your manuscript. While there is no stipend with regard to this offer, space at our newly refurbished Navy Yard annex will be made available for your use. A year here may provide opportunities to test and refine your concepts on military and civilian practitioners of the NDU student body.

We are quite flexible regarding research initiation dates and can work out a program that basically fits your research needs; however we are constrained to limit the association with NDU to one year. Please contact Colonel John E. Endicott at 693-1384 for additional information.

Knowing the major impact you have had on security affairs and your keen interest in matters of continuing strategic importance, I hope you find it possible to join us as an Adjunct Fellow.

With warm regards,

Sincerely,

Richard D. Lawrence
