Col. John Boyd

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

On August 20, 1984 I was attempting to return a telephone call from John Boyd that was placed by him at 10:57 am to me at my office in the Senate Russell Office Building in the office suite of Senator Nancy L. Kassebaum (R., Ks.). In my first two attempts to return the call, I received a busy signal (approximately 11:30).

At approximately 11:45, I again attempted to return the call. After several rings, an operator came on the line and asked what phone number I was calling. I gave her Boyd's number; she responded that I had reached the Pentagon and that I should attempt to dial again. I again dialed, careful to dial Boyd's home number accurately, again after several rings, a different operator came on the line and asked what number I was calling. I told her. Without identifying what number or organization I had reached, she asked me to dial again.

I did so. This time there was neither a ringing noise nor a busy signal, but instead a jumble of voices of at least two different phone conversations. I listened but could not identify any voices and could only pick up a few words. I heard a very faint busy signal, in addition. I dialed again and received the same jumble of voices but heard in the background a ringing signal.

I dialed again. After a few rings, John Boyd answered the phone. During the early course of this conversation, he remarked that before he picked up the phone to answer my latest attempt to reach him he had heard his phone ring. I surmise that this earlier ringing was the same ringing I heard faintly when I heard the second jumble of voices.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

Telephone call to John Boyd, 3 August 1986

1. On 3 August 1986, at about 1830 hours, I attempted to call the residence of John Boyd (phone # 354-7634). At first, I got a busy signal, then a strange series of clicking sounds, then an operator answered and said that I had gotten the Pentagon.
2. I made several more attempts at calling Boyd and got several busy signals; and two times, after the busy signal, the phone then automatically redialed to some line that rang without an answer.
