Biographical Sketch

Henry Clay Cochrane was born in Chester, PA on 7 November 1842. He was accepted into the Marine Corps on 29 August 1861, but soon after it was discovered that he was only nineteen years old and his commission was revoked. A week later Cochrane joined the Navy where he served aboard the USS North Carolina and Pembina and participated in many engagements in the blockading of Confederate ports.

In early 1863 Cochrane reapplied for a Marine Corps commission and was appointed Second Lieutenant. A few weeks later he was ordered to duty at Headquarters in Washington, DC. On 17 November 1863, he accompanied President Lincoln to the dedication of the military cemetery at Gettysburg.

In 1864 he was sent to the Naval Station at Cairo, IL, and later to Mound City, IL, with reinforcements against a Confederate offensive at that point on the Mississippi River. In March, 1865, he joined the USS Black Hawk and remained aboard until the ship's destruction on 23 April.

Over the next few years, Cochrane served in many shore and sea billets. He was on recruiting duty in Chicago, San Francisco, Richmond, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Newark, and Patterson; was stationed at Marine Barracks in Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Annapolis, and Norfolk; and had duty aboard USS Potomac, Constellation, New Hampshire, Saranac, Jamestown, Plymouth, and Lancaster in both the Atlantic and Pacific fleets.

In 1875 he published a "Confidential" pamphlet, calling for a reorganization of the Marine Corps. A few months later, he participated in a meeting of Marine officers in Norfolk who drew up a bill for consideration by Congress to reduce, reorganize, and increase the efficiency of the Marine Corps.

In 1883 he served as an American representative in Moscow at the coronation of Czar Alexander III; and two years later, he was placed in command of a company of Marines sent to the Isthmus of Panama to restore order.

From 1886 to 1889 Cochrane served as Commanding Officer, Marine Barracks, Pensacola, during which he supervised the complete rebuilding of Marine facilities there. While at Pensacola, he married Elizabeth Ferguson Lull, daughter of Captain Edward Phelps Lull, USN.

In 1889 Cochrane was ordered from Pensacola and placed in charge of a detachment of Marines sent to the Universal Exposition in Paris. Upon his return in 1890, he had a tour at Marine Barracks, League Island, PA and then was assigned as Executive Officer, Marine Barracks, Mare Island, CA.

Prior to the Spanish American War in 1898, Cochrane was promoted to Major, and he accompanied Colonel Robert W. Huntington to Cuba as second in command of the Marine Brigade which participated in the war. In August 1900 he was assigned command of Marine forces in the United States Relief Expedition to China in the Boxer Rebellion, and in 1901 he was in command of Marines who participated in the Philippine Insurrection.

On 10 March 1902, he was placed on the retired list and he returned to Chester, PA where he continued a public speaking career. On 13 April 1911, Cochrane was appointed a Brigadier General on the retired list. Cochrane died in Chester on 27 April 1913 and was buried there on 30 April.

Scope and Content Note

The Papers of Henry Clay Cochrane consist of materials relating mainly to his career with the Marine Corps and materials relating to his family. The dates of the collection range from 1809-1957.

Included in this collection are diaries maintained by Cochrane, a great deal of official and personal correspondence written by and sent to him, publications, notebooks, and a collection of photographs taken by Cochrane on all his travels for the Marine Corps during the later part of the 19th century. Of particular note are the materials related to Cochrane's travels to Gettysburg with President Lincoln which is supported by correspondence, his diary, and the publication To Gettysburg with Lincoln; his part in the Universal Exposition in Paris in 1889 supported by diaries, correspondence, photographs, and publications; his travels to Russia for the Coronation of the Czar, supported by photographs diaries, and correspondence; and his publication advocating for a reorganization of the Marine Corps. Part of the oversize collection includes newspapers collected by Cochrane from around the world. The bulk of these newspapers are dated late 19th century.

The collection is arranged alphabetically by subject headings and chronologically within each series. For all of the subject headings, some were assigned by Cochrane and others were imposed by the processor. Series in this collection include correspondence, diaries, family records, programs and invitations, and photographs. The size of the collection is approximately 23 linear feet.
