

"Bahrain's Political Uprisings: From Political Reform to Sectarianism"

Prof. Kristin Smith Diwan

American University

This is the seventh, and final, lecture in the series being hosted by Middle East Studies at Marine Corps University entitled "Orienting Our Sights on the Future: the Opportunities and Challenges of the Arab Revolts ."

Kristin Smith Diwan is an Assistant Professor in Comparative and Regional Studies at the American University School of International Service. She works in both comparative politics and international relations and specializes in Arab and Islamist politics. Prof. Diwan has many publications on the politics and political economy of the Arab Gulf, among them "Sovereign Dilemmas: Sovereign Wealth Funds in Saudi Arabia," Geopolitics, 14/2 (April 2009); "The Gulf Comes Back to Earth (with Fareed Mohamedi)" Middle East Report (Fall 2009); "Bahrain's Shia Question," Foreign Affairs (March 2011); and "Kuwait's Impatient Youth Movement," Foreign Policy (July 2011). She is currently completing a book manuscript on the emergence of Islamic banking in the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) states entitled From Petrodollars to Islamic Dollars: Islamic Finance in the Arab Gulf. Prof. Diwan previously held the Qatar Post-Doctoral Fellowship at Georgetown University. She received her Ph.D. in Political Science from Harvard University and holds an M.A. in International Affairs from the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies.

Thursday, 19 April 2012, 1330-1500

Gray Research Center, Room 164,166

2040 Broadway St , MCB Quantico

For more information about the MES AY 2011-12 Lecture Series, or to RSVP, please contact Adam C Seitz, Senior Associate for Middle East Studies at MCU, at (703) 432-5260 or seitzac@grc.usmcu.edu.