Battlespace Framework & Intent

Task Organization

- Leadership: The EWS senior leadership consists of the Director, Deputy Director, Chief Academic Officer, Chief Instructor, Director of Curriculum Development and Operations Officer
- Faculty: A combination of military and civilian personnel who are responsible for the education and training of the students. Key members of the faculty are:
 - Curriculum Development: Majors designated with the responsibility to design and deliver the EWS curriculum
 - Faculty Advisors (FACAD): Majors designated to mentor and lead students, facilitate conference group discussions, and assess student performance
 - Professional Communication Department: Civilian faculty who provide assistance in the development and assessment of communication skills
- Staff: Civilian and military members responsible for the daily operations, administration, and training support

Typical Student Body

• USMC	181
• USMCR	3
• USA	22
• USAF	6
• USN	16
• International Officers	22
• Total	250

- Students are organized into 16 conference groups. The majority of learning occurs at the conference group level
 - Each conference group consists of approximately 16 Captains from a diverse mix of Military Occupational Specialties, military services, and nationalities
 - Each conference group of 16 students is led by a Faculty Advisor (FACAD). Throughout the academic year, the FACAD serves as a mentor and leader; models tactical, technical, and professional MAGTF officer skills, facilitates conference group discussion, and assesses student performance

Intent

Purpose: Mentally, morally, and physically prepare graduates for billets of increased leadership responsibility across the Fleet Marine Force and the Joint Force.

Method: Three common threads build unity of effort within the EWS curriculum:

- Who We Are

- Specific emphasis on the Marine Corps' ethos, Core Values, history and Naval Character, coupled with our roles and missions within the Joint Force
- Particular attention is paid to the sacred leadership responsibilities inherent in service as commissioned officers in the Armed Forces of the United States

- How We Fight

- The Marine Corps' maneuver warfare doctrine is our foundation
- An integrated combined arms Marine Air Ground Task Force (MAGTF) is our base unit
- The Occupational Field Expansion Course (OFEC) sharpens the mission essential physical, cognitive, and technical skills unique to each specialty

- Where We Fight...Past, Present, and Future

- A detailed study of MAGTF operations at sea, from the sea, and ashore, as well as an exposure to the diversity of the Naval expeditionary environment
- The curriculum employs historical case studies, preserving critical lessons from history while maintaining an eye towards the continuously evolving and distributed future battlefield

Mission

Expeditionary Warfare School educates and trains company grade officers in order to prepare them mentally, morally, and physically for billets of increased leadership responsibility across the Fleet Marine Force and the Joint Force, with emphasis on the warfighting capabilities of a Marine Air Ground Task Force operating within a complex and distributed naval expeditionary environment.

Expeditionary Warfare School graduates are prepared to:

- (1) Lead with the Marine Corps' Core Values and ethical standards expected of commissioned officers.
- (2) Fight with a Maneuver Warfare Mindset.
- (3) Employ a MAGTF in a naval expeditionary environment.
- (4) Demonstrate MOS credibility.

Concept of Operations

Who We Are — EWS reinforces the foundations of who we are as Marines, with specific emphasis on the Marine Corps' ethos, values, history and Naval character, coupled with our roles and missions within the Joint Force. EWS devotes particular attention to the sacred leadership responsibilities inherent in service as commissioned officers in the Armed Forces of the United States.

How We Fight — The Marine Corps' maneuver warfare doctrine is the lens through which we view the enduring nature and evolving character of warfare. The mental, moral, and physical underpinnings of our warfighting philosophy intentionally permeate every class, discussion, and practical exercise.

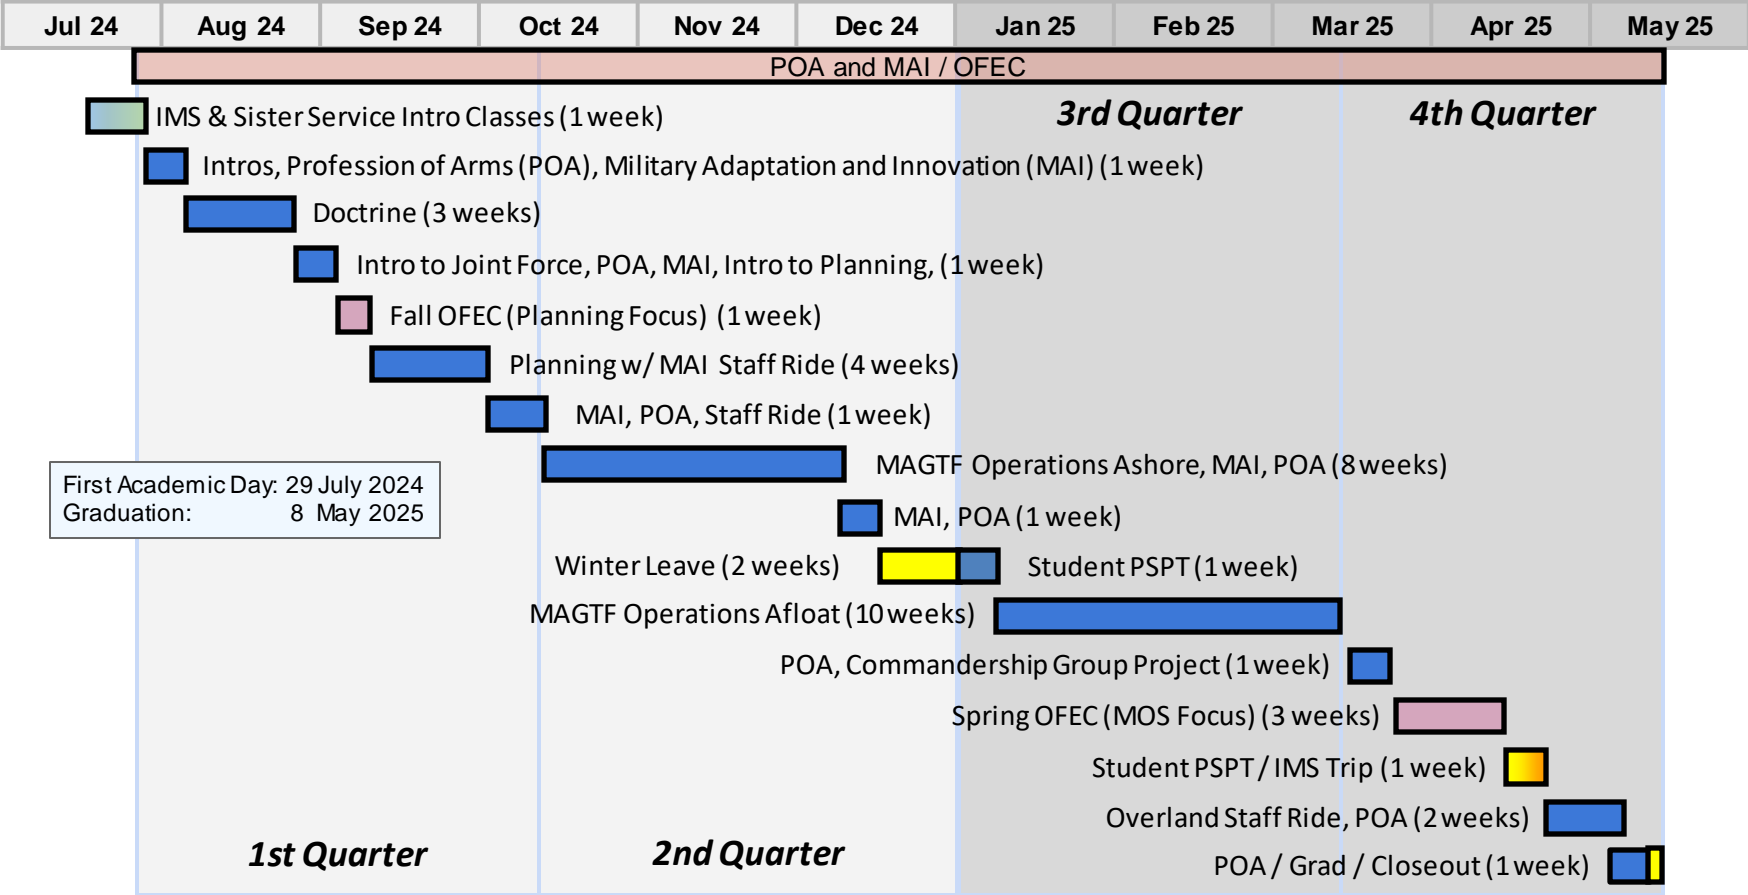

Where We Fight. . . Past, Present, and Future — In keeping with the spirit and intent of the Marine Corps' role as our Nation's force in readiness, prepared to respond to crisis in "any clime and place," the EWS curriculum includes a detailed study of MAGTF operations at sea, from the sea, and ashore, as well as an exposure to the diversity of the Naval expeditionary environment. Specific emphasis is placed on the complexities of operations in urban terrain and the contested littorals. The curriculum accomplishes this through case studies, preserving critical lessons from history while maintaining an eye towards the continuously evolving and distributed future battlefield.

Achieved Through 7 Core Courses

- Profession of Arms (POA)
 - Officership
 - Professional Communication
 - Total Force Fitness
- USMC Doctrine
- USMC Planning
- MAGTF Operations Ashore
- MAGTF Operations Afloat
- Military Adaptation & Innovation (MAI)
 - Historical Studies
 - Global Security Environment (threat)
 - Global Operational Environment (joint)
- Occupational Field Expansion Course (OFEC)

Scheme of Maneuver

Professional Development Opportunities

- General Officer Guest Lecture Program. Given our location, we often have general officers speak on a variety of operational and leadership topics. Speakers normally include CMC, ACMC, General Pace (former CJCS), General Paxton, and several Deputy Commandants
- Research Fellows Program. A select group of students may apply to pursue a research project of their own choosing in lieu of the required Argumentative Research Paper. Topics for future innovation are encouraged
- Seminar on War, Strategy, and Military History. Students may apply to participate in this elective that requires reading multiple works of military literature and participating in a discussion on each. Books include Grant's Memoirs, Defeat Into Victory.
- Brown Bags: A slate of voluntary presentations by a variety of guest speakers, many of them focused on particular occupational fields

EWS Enrichment Program

Broad slate of voluntary faculty/student interest-driven activities to facilitate personal and professional growth of the entire EWS community (faculty, staff, students, and families).
